Almost A Celebrity

A Lifetime of Night-Time

James Whale

Foreword by Chris Moyles

- A no-holds-barred autobiography of the king of the night-time airwaves and original radio shock jock
- Contains extraordinarily frank revelations, including the full details of James's battle with cancer, his brief career as an international spy, and a dark saga, which tore his family apart
- James's controversial character earned him a place on the hit list of a double murderer. His name was third on the list and the convicted felon is due for release this year
- Keeping true to his reputation as a man prepared to speak the unspeakable, James peppers his life story with trademark rants on topics ranging from immigration to global warming
- James's hit radio show on TalkSPORT attracts over a million fiercely loyal listeners every week
