

Publication date: 28th May 2015 HB • £9.99

David Long has previously written for publications such as The Sunday Times and The Sunday Mirror and has also published a number of books about England and London including Bizarre London. He is well versed on the most peculiar aspects of the country's history.

MICHAEL O'MARA BOOKS LTD

Find us on Facebook, and follow us on Twitter: @OMaraBooks

www.mombooks.com

For information contact:

Clara Nelson 020 7819 5911 Head of Publicity and Marketing clara.nelson@mombooks.com

MICHAEL O'MARA BOOKS

Bizarre England

Discover the Country's Secrets & Surprises By David Long

From the gruesome to the garish, Bizarre England provides a guide to adventures in England's most weird, wonderful and undiscovered places, stories and traditions.

Did you know that...

- Ashbourne in Derbyshire holds a world toewrestling championship?
- Lincolnshire has a yearly egg-throwing contest dating back to 1322?
- The Wellcome Library has a book bound in human skin?
- The tallest building in England is not The Shard, but a radio mast in Cumbria?

This is a comprehensive guide to England's forgotten folklore, quirky traditions, local myths, odd attractions and extraordinary inhabitants.Ranging from secret underground bunkers to the real truth about the origins of the Cornish Pasty (in Norfolk), this humorous book will reveal surprises on your doorstep as well as throughout the land.

Features include:

Royal nicknames; Marvellous museum collections; Suggestive place names; Historical games; Secret bunkers; Unusual islands; Original and sometimes unfortunate inventions; Aristocratic facts; Amazing architecture: Hilarious historical events: Macabre capital punishment details; Most notable pubs and cinemas, and much more...

Media Opportunities

- Serial and extract rights available
- David Long is an experienced broadcaster and available for interview
- Travel and regional features: ideas for lost weekends in England's quirkiest corners
- Author articles
- Author speaking engagements

