

How to Be a Cat

The official rulebook of the feline world

Kitty Pusskin's guide to living with humans and getting the upper paw

As told by Mark Leigh

Publication: 7th April 2016

Imprint: Michael O'Mara Books, hardback

Price: £9.99

Discover what your cat is really thinking in this humorous guide to the world.

As you'd expect from a book written by a cat about humans, the advice can be condescending, cynical and anarchic in equal measures. Cats offer helpful observations and advice on specific feline issues, such as the best kind of furniture on which to sharpen your claws, how to wake up owners who don't supply breakfast on time, and why you should never leave an empty box unexplored.

How to Be a Cat is essential reading not just for all felines but also for their owners and cat lovers alike.

A pedigree British Blue, Kitty Pusskin sees herself less as a family pet and more as someone who lives with humans simply so she can judge them. She wrote How to Be a Cat by drawing on her years of experience living in a human household and the invaluable insights of her many feline friends. This is the first book Kitty has written (although she's sharpened her claws on many more).
